BIG TIME AT UNI. HARE AND HOUND CHASE

Sophs and Frosh Have no Trouble
Finding Juniors and
'Seniors.

"Who wants wieners? Buns? Pickles?"

It was the voice of Ben Mead, ye commissary of subsistence, announcing the arrival of that all-important moment when, campfires and wiener-spears ready, avid hikers of the Hare and Hound chase given by the two upper classes for the Freshmen and Sophomores, Tuesday night, proceeded to satisfy their hunger.

Led by two or three of the "Hounds" who, it was observed, possessed a remarkable intuitive knowledge of where the "Hares" had gone, the underclassmen, meeting at the end of the Florence car line, hiked along the river road to a place where the Hares had left the road for the bluff. After a long climb up a trail that seemed to the travel-worn Hounds built only for mountain goats, the goal was reached.

Obliging male members of the crowd built campfires. Girls, having after due space of time recovered their breath, hunted twigs for the wiener roast.

A Victrola, borrowed from one of the residents of Florence, furnished music for the dancing.

Ben Mead and Dave Robel, as leading spirits of the affair, cordially shook hands "all around" before leaving the street car at their destination. And, witnesses affirm (crowning gallantry of all), Mr. Mead genially tried to include in his leave-taking a girl not belonging to the party.

MISS KNIGHT WINS PRIZE.

Awarded Fifty Dollars for Collection of Oil and Water Color Paintings.

The University Art Department is well represented at the annual Art Exhibit which is now in progress at the public library. Miss Augusta Knight, instructor of the department, received a $50.00 prize for a collection of oil and water color paintings. Miss Knight has for many years been a student of art, and is recognized as an authority in her particular field. Much of her time during the past summer was devoted to studying in New York City.

Miss Dorothy Edwards received an honorable mention for her excellent work on a leather coin purse, which she completed at the University last year. Other students who had their work accepted were:—Miss Emma Edling, Eva Nelson, and Mrs. A. O. Peterson.

BAKER JUNIOR PRESIDENT.

The Juniors held their election last week. Kenneth Baker was elected president, Marie Pellegrin, vice president, and Agnes Undeland, secretary treasurer. Much to the Juniors gratification, the treasury started out with a balance left from last year. Plans were instantly started as to how to spend this money. The result was a Hare and Hound Chase in which the whole school participated. P. S.—The treasury is now flat.

PLAYER'S CLUB BEGINS WORK OF CURRENT YEAR

Lucile Bliss, President, to Appoint
Committee to Choose
First Play.

The new officers of the Player's Club are formulating the plans for what promises to be the most successful season the organization has ever had.

If a large number of new members are admitted to the club this year, two plays will be presented this semester and two next spring. A committee will be appointed by the president of the society to choose the first play of the season. This production will undoubtedly be a comedy-drama, and will be given before the Christmas holidays. Tryouts for the club were held yesterday in order that practice may begin as soon as possible.

President Competent.

Lucile Bliss, this year's president of the Player's Club, is the present society editor of the Gateway. She is well known for her work in previous dramatic productions of the school, having appeared in HEIRS-AT-LAW, the freshman play for the Gala Day festivities last year, and in programs given by the Expression department of the school.

Marie Pellegrin, the new secretary-treasurer, has had great practical experience in expression work. She intends to obtain her degree in the Dramatic Department. Miss Pellegrin has been on the special programs of the University, and was in a number of plays presented by the Player's Club last year. This year she is vice-president of the junior class, and is assisting Lucile Bliss on the GATEWAY.

The Player's Club was organized two years ago, primarily to advance the standard of dramatic expression in the University and to afford those students possessing a natural aptitude for acting an opportunity to develop their talents. Since its first year, it has been a great asset to the school in advertising the university, in contributing to the social life of the school, and in creating a keener interest in the Expression department.

ROBEL WRITES SONG

Dr. Kreuger Recommends its Adoption
as the Official School Song.

Dedicated to Dr. Jenkins.

At a mass meeting a few days ago a new song was introduced to the student body for its approval. The song was written by Dave Robel and was introduced by Perry Borchertling Dr. Kreuger and Dr. Jenkins strongly urged its adoption officially by the student body. The university needs something like this to use at all affairs and on all occasions, particularly athletic contests. The song is exceptional in its sentiment and is the very embodiment of pep. The words of the song follow:

U. of O., we're here to boost you,
While our colors fly;
Always true in all you do
We'll hold you banners high.
We will always stand behind you,
Backing up that line—FINE!
U. of O., we praise forever U. of O.

Miss Frances Wiles, according to the latest reports, is progressing quite well in her legal studies and is outshining many of the members of the sterner sex.

Y. M. BOOSTER CLUB CAMPAIGN WILL BEGIN TOMORROW.

Next Wednesday the big membership campaign week for the Men's Booster Club starts with a bang. A snappy talk, outline of plans, and enthusiasm are on the program for Wednesday. Every day for the rest of the week something special will be on,—band concerts, symphonies, banquets, circuses, n'everything. Be a booster, boost for the school, boost athletics, boost the Booster Club, and come out next Wednesday. Join the organization. Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors, all! Baker is the membership chairman. Let's hope that every man in the school joins, and that we will outgrow room 2. Let's go!

GATEWAY TO PUT ON CANDY SALE IN NEAR FUTURE

Miss Lucile Bliss has been appointed chairman of a committee to arrange plans for a candy sale, the proceeds of which will go to pay off the deficit which existed at the close of last year. All young ladies in the University who are culinary experts, particularly in that branch which deals with delectable condiments, should see Miss Bliss at once and arrange to take part in the preparation of the delicacies which are to be designed for the edification of the "chivalrous gentleman with the sweet tooth."

Plans for the sale were formulated by Professor MacLean, who is an authority on everything pertaining to the kitchen.

More definite arrangements will be announced, together with the names of all girls who desire to assist Miss Bliss, in the next issue of the Gateway.

HOBBIES.

By Herb Fischer.

"Tell me what a person likes and I'll tell you what he is like." The sweet young thing never had golf for a hobby; neither does the soft-muscled haberdashery clerk collect wild flowers as a side line (although wild chickens—but then we said side line.) Thus by their likes and dislikes you may know them.

You know ANN McCONNELL. She's the girl who has the natural marcel and an almost twin sister—or maybe that's Jane I'm describing. Ann's hobby is les billets-douces in French. And oh, when Dr. Kreuger asked what we had on our hearts, weren't we surprised. JANE simply loves the theatre. Any time you invite her to a show she'll go, but how she does hate dutch treats.

Then there's the great big he-man, PRATT. When interviewed on hobbies he said something awfully clever about waiting for popples to fall in streets which really went over our head, but perhaps Gabby's readers can dope it out.

We feel sure that VIRGINIA ROBINSON once suffered some terrible injustice from the O. & C. R. R., for she takes an impish delight in passing two-hour old transfers.

And for the absolutely knock-you-cold, strictly-fresh line, we saluam RUTH REDFIELD. She could give F. Scott Fitzgerald lessons. "I've never had a cold—" and that isn't half of it.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB PLANS EXTENSIVE WORK FOR YEAR

Tour of Eastern Iowa and Western Nebraska Will be Made.

An extensive program is being outlined this season for the Girls' Glee Club by Dr. Frederick K. Krueger, director of the organization. The plans include an opera, a tour, a concert to be broadcasted by radio, and a promise to sing at the city concert.

This year's officers of the organization have already been chosen, with Flora Jones as president, Helen Van Curn as business manager, Mary Gordon as treasurer, Helen Williams as secretary, and Irene Shamp as librarian.

"Love's Sacrifice," the opera presented by the Girls' Glee Club last spring, will be repeated this winter. Several features will be added to it. The West Sisters will furnish the orchestral accompaniment, and girls from the school will take the dancing parts. The scenery and costumes will be both beautiful and elaborate. At present, Dr. Krueger is carefully surveying his field before choosing the girls for the difficult solo parts of the opera.

The club will make its annual tour early next spring. Concerts are being arranged to be given at Midland College in Fremont, Nebraska, at Treynor, Iowa, and at Council Bluffs.

"Our aim is to study only classical music," declares Dr. Krueger. "We are now studying BARCAROLE from TALES OF HOFFMAN, WHO IS SYLVIA by Schubert, and the LETTER DUET from FIGARO by Mozart."

For special occasions, Dr. Krueger intends to combine the Girls' and the Boys' Glee Clubs with the Omaha Music Society and the choir of the North Presbyterian Church.

ALPHA GET-TOGETHER MEETING

Dr. Krueger, Eychaner, Hartford and
Johnson Indulge in Bombastic
Phraseology.

Last Monday evening the Alpha Sigma Lambda Fraternity held a get-together meeting at the home of Brother Fischer. All the gang were there as well as our pledges. The Stromberg Brothers gave us a delightful lot of popular songs and the bunch joined in on the choruses. Professor Henri Snpriste again favored us with some hokus-pokus. Most of us know him as Herb. When the hour was growing late we gathered around the table to a wonderful feed. Dr. Krueger, "Unk" Eychaner, Hartford, and pledge Johnson favored us with short talks. After eating all we could contain we adjourned at the request of Leonard Stromberg, who had an eight o'clock class Tuesday morning.

CORRECTION.

In last week's issue it was reported that Ken Baker was elected to the office of secretary-treasurer of the Booster Club. An error was made, since Mr. Baker was elected to the vice-presidency. The office of secretary-treasurer was awarded to Ben Mead.

Dr. Krueger has become the leader of the choir of the North Presbyterian church.

OPEN LETTERS.

To Dr. Vartanian:

Doc:

We sympathize with you in your effort to evade your responsibilities in handling our chapel program. However, we are glad the faculty insisted on reposing the work on your capable shoulders for the current year. We frankly avow that you are the only man for a position so important as the planning of our daily assembly.

—The Student Body.

To Coach Adams:

Dear Ernie:

You've got a real bunch of fighters on the team this year. We're for you and your squad, for our coach and our men, to the last.

—The Student Body.

To the Freshies:

Unsophisticated Ones:

Your rapid acquisition of the U. of O. spirit is to be commended. You have been with us but a few short weeks, but you are as vital a part of the school as we are.

—The Upper Classmen.

To Ned Wilmarth:

Captain:

The school mourns the loss of your generalship and guidance. We feel that if you could stay with us, we would have a better team. We'll do our best, Ned, to make the season successful. But we miss you in the line up.

—The Student Body.

To the School:

You're a darn good institution.

—The Student Body.

To Leonard Stromberg:

Dear Strom:

We rejoice at your election to the presidency of our Booster Club. We know you're the only man for the job who can promote harmony and who can provide us with programs that will help us to be bigger men. We're for you, Mr. President.

—The Young Men.

To School Spirit:

Maker of Schools:

Wake up, and roll over! We want to see you hanging around where you'll do the most good. You've got lots of material here to feed on. Get busy and grow.

—The Student Body.

To the Bulletin Board:

Dear Board:

You are to be pitied. Truly, the bounteousness of notices upon your frail surface must cause you inwardly to groan. We'd all like to see you grow a little and put on a polish, so you'd be able to comfortably bear up under all your responsibilities.

BACK YOUR PAPER.

By Helen Searson.

"Keep your remarks for the Gateway," suggested Dr. Krueger. The suggestion followed a series of class comments on subjects not pertaining to modern European history. Its intended influence was negative—"do not make them in history class." But in the affirmative of the suggestion there is advice that, followed, would be of great gain to the school.

If the idea were enlarged to include with "remarks," observations and thoughts about them, "news stories" and comments on the news, it would express the desire of the Gateway. It is what ought to be.

The Gateway is the natural access through which happenings of the school are made public. It is a gateway for events, and people, and thoughts to pass into the foreground of school life. It is not just a medium of self expression for the staff. It is a paper that is the possession of the whole school.

A paper is a school's organ of speech. A school without a paper is like a person without a voice. The Gateway is the voice of the University.

We do not ask that you immediately sit down and write articles for the Gateway, nor that you send in your subscriptions. But we do want you to think about it. Think of what it means to you that your school has an organ of expression. Or, if it means nothing to you, think of what it could mean if you would let it.

Eleanor M.: Now we know it so well we don't need an examination.

ent. Arrangements were completed for the big masquerade dance October 27th at the Strehlow Club.

Bob Sackett is employed in the membership department of the Omaha Y. M. C. A. He is assistant secretary to Wade Reeves.

The Theta masque dance is to be one of the biggest dates on the Theta calendar. The big affair is set for Friday, October 27, and the place is Strehlow. The committee in charge is Bud Foley, Dave Robel, Perry Borcharding and Harry Williams. Peppy music will be furnished by one of the best orchestras in the city. Elaborate decorations and hard-time ents will be a feature of the revelry.

The next regular meeting will be held Wednesday, November 1st., at the home of Brother Robel.

Personals

Dr. Krueger is contemplating writing an historical scenario; but he needs a partner to the undertaking. He offers to furnish the historical part if some one else will write the necessary "mush."

Lamenters of the decline of courtesy toward women, take notice! Ben Mead not only offers a girl his seat on the street car, but he is ready gallantly to traverse, twice, the length of the car to insure that she accepts it.

Dr. Vartanian announces that he wishes it understood that, when he "bites" at a question asked in class for the purpose of diverting him from the lesson subject, he bites consciously.

The theory that the center of gravity always seeks the lowest possible point was effectually demonstrated by Carroll Corliss, who tilted his chair a little too far backward for the edification of the Physics class.

ALUMNI

Mrs. Walter T. More, '15, of Torrington, Wyoming, is visiting her mother Mrs. S. W. Underhill, of this city. Mrs. More was formerly Miss Lottie Underhill, but better known as "Happy."

Mrs. J. E. Goodrich entertained at a luncheon at Brandels Tea Room, Friday, in honor of her sister Miss Isabelle Pearsall, who was in the city to attend the Teachers' Convention.

Miss Rhenuilla Blair, while at a football game in Lincoln last week, met several of our former students who are now attending the State University. Among them were Lois Thompson, Marjorie and Lila Wynnan.

Mrs. Glen Smith entertained the Kappa Psi Delta Alumni at her home at Carter Lake last Wednesday. They crossed the lake in canoes and after a delicious supper which was cooked over a camp fire, they sat around the fire and talked of the good times they had while attending the U. of O.

Miss Anita Edmiston has the lead in two of the three-act plays which are being coached at the Misner Studio.

GATEWAY REPORTER MEETS WITH UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT

Gallant Professor Assists Lady in Distress by Salvaging Pocketbook.

Consider that intricate article, the average girl's pocketbook, and the treasures it contains. Its valuables usually amount to a number of handkerchiefs, a doirine, a small purse, a few keys, a couple of pencils, and several coins, mostly of the lower denominations. Few masculine members of the university have been initiated into the mysteries of such a pocketbook.

A few mornings ago, Helen Searson was endeavoring to balance her lunch and her pocketbook on the top of an armful of books as she and one of the professors walked across the campus together on their way to an eight o'clock class. Just as they reached the steps of the building, Helen dropped her books and purse, and the precious contents of the latter were strewn in all directions over the ground. Like a chivalrous knight of old, the professor gallantly picked up each article, and restored it to the owner, with an inscrutable smile. We understand that since the unfortunate occurrence, Helen has solemnly resolved to carry no more than ten things in her purse at one time.

PHI SIGMA PHI.

Wm. J. Stone, who completed the City Planning Course at Harvard last year, has been offered a position as assistant City Zoning Director in the City of Boston.

Howard Vore, who shone on our football team in days gone by, has been promoted to special agent for the United States Fidelity & Casualty Co.

Fred Reynolds, one of our musicians, was transferred from Nebraska University Conservatory of Music to the conservatory at Chicago Uni.

Leonard Thlessen, who took the art course here last year, is enrolled at the University of So. Dakota this year. We all remember how Leonard used to win first prize in every poster contest he entered—and some he didn't enter.

THE HOUND AND HARE CHASE.

(A Lyrical Episode.)

The hounds and hares all had some chase, All pattered the race with equal pace,

About a mile along the river road, Till at a spot where no one knowed, They gallantly climbed the steep clay bank,

At the top built a fire and by it sank.

By the fire they chattered at times quite loud.

For the hounds and hares were a chattering crowd.

The fire was bright, the flames shot high,

And the moon shown serenely out of the sky;

A happy bunch were the hounds and hares.

They had left behind their troubles and cares.

"When do we eat?" a fair damsel cried.

And right away the grub was spied.

The hot dogs were roasted on big long sticks,

And they sizzled and grizzled in an awful fix.

Baker and Hadley were two thoughtful hounds, They had thunk of a wonderful trick, Suddenly they disappeared from view.

But returned with a phony vic. The fire was slowly dying out, The light from the embers grew low;

But the happy souls of the hares and hounds

Reilly hated to go.

One by one, two by two, Three by three, and four by four,

The hares and hounds in coupled pairs

Paced the homeward trail once more.

The chase was over so home they went.

With feet that were weary and backs badly bent,

But the hounds and hares will long remember

From early spring till late September.

That the chase they had in '22

Was the best ever had in Omaha U.

—Robel.

Gabby

A nice blond man sat next to a nice brunette girl. Said he, "I'm a Pagan, I worship twenty-three gods and you are one of them." Then he gently tweaked the ribbons on her little hat. Said she, "Oh, and is that part of your religious ceremony?" "No," said he with rapt gaze which due to proximity had all of three inches to travel "There are too many around here to show you my religious ceremony." And then the teacher wondered why the little brunette was not listening to her talk on Chaucer compared to Milton.

My dear! What is this generation coming to? Gabby noticed one balmy afternoon last week a young co-ed with black bobbed hair, and a young swain of opposite coloring, who appeared to be playing tag. "My, what a nice game!" thought Gabby; but shades of Cicero! It was not tag at all! It was found that the co-ed was to get five-dollars (which would have paid her way to Lincoln last week end) if she made the young man break his pledge to a League of which he is the only member.

LAW CLASS NOTES.

Mail asserted as he comfortably leaned back: "The only thing I like better than comfort is more comfort.

A lively discussion ensued the other evening whether a grocery store by the name of Hoggly-Woggly would be infringing on the rights of the Piggly-Wiggly store. Maybe the Hoggly-Woggly is a Piggly-Wiggly grown up. We wonder.

Leeke suddenly decided that he wouldn't be there the next night when he had been assigned a long case.

Brant insists on calling Brant his opponent when they get into an argument. Brant declines the honor and insists that he has no opponents. However, the fight goes on.

Tapley was assigned a case by the title of Tapley vs. Butterfield. He ought to know all about this case without even studying it.

The third year class are always shy on chairs. We don't object however because we got a chance to go in a room to get chairs where many fair damsels of great beauty are learning to write on the typewriter by other than the hunt and punch system.

A VICTIM COMPLAINS.

List to the Voice of One Who Has Been Hard Hit.

"Oh Bliss, Oh Bliss What joy is this."

Far be it from us to be PERSONAL, but when BETTY gives GABBY to a "cub" the outcome may be deadly. If you hate scandal, skip this article.

It came about in the course of events that a Mere Man fell from Grace. Now it never occurred to the aforesaid M. M. that anyone was aware of this except the Grace in question. It never entered his mind that the demure young thing coyly smashing test-tubes and annoying herself with deadly mixtures might have any interest in the matter.

But when the Gateway came out, he discovered the connection between chemistry and crime. No names were mentioned, but the Grace-less matter received full publicity to the delight of the student body and to the chagrin of M. M.

This is typical. Our school is under the thumb of an awful triumvirate under whose sway faculty and students tremble. Let the misdoer beware! Crime is punished and Society honored at Omaha Uni.

BEWARE! This is weighty advice. Watch your step when you are in the presence of the party whose very initials are a pound abbreviated.

"Better be firm and wrong than wobbly and right," might be the motto of some in Omaha Uni.

One swallow doesn't make a summer but one frog can make a spring.

Every teacher believes the following: "The surest sign that you have no brains is to argue with one who hasn't."

Sophomore: "Teachers are worse than immigration authorities at Ellis Island nowadays."

Alumnus: "How come?"

Soph: "They have swiped the slogan: 'THEY SHALL NOT PASS!'"

PET PHRASES.

Physics I Class: Clear as mud.

Kutak: Eureka!

Dr. Krueger's Classes: May we have some air?

Prof. Searboro: Is that clear?

Lyle Anderson: Yes, sir.

Dr. Krueger: Where is the green sweater today?

Betty Says:

Fern Thomsen wishes to know why some people can not refrain from telling a secret. She recently confided to Ann McConnell that she can always keep a secret, but the person to whom she tells the secret never can.

Several of the political science students are viewing Dr. Krueger as an awe-inspiring mind reader, particularly since he startled Marian Fisher by demanding to know "what was on her heart."

The French students, have agreed that nothing more dreadful can be imagined than that Miss Zozaya should have stooped shoulders, and are working feverishly to destroy all plans that have for their objective the purchase of a ribbon for her watch.

TEACHERS PROVE HARD.

Students Required to "Know Their Stuff" When Visiting Teachers Come.

The influence of the Teacher's Convention that struck Omaha reached even unto the University. We who thought that surely we had put away childish things (such as, for instance, our company manners before the stern eye of a visiting pedagogue) were deceived.

"We will probably have visiting teachers Monday," advised Dr. Krueger. "I would like to have you know something about the lesson."

Methods chosen by Mr. MacLenn were even more heartless. "If we have visitors, I will turn the recitation into a written lesson," was his verdict.

Thus it is that fates—and teachers—combine against us. With the prospect of lessons to be "known" or to be written—prospects equally inviting—we are expected to greet the visitors with pleasant and respectful cordiality. We do it, but we should like it better, dear visitors, if it were we got the vacation, and you got the work.

ON THE GRIDIRON

Bill McKee, who played such a good game at Sioux City, has left the University to take up a position in a bank. Good luck, Bill, we miss you.

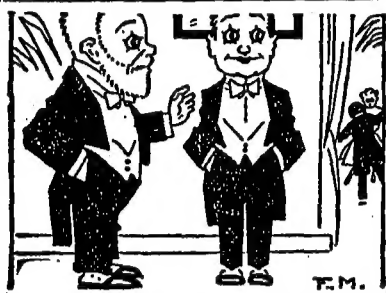

Ackerman, the wit (or half-wit) of the team, saved us from a couple of sure touchdowns by stopping the speedy Kutsh of Trinity.

"Dapper Dan" Wilmarth has brains as well as ability. He used both by running instead of trying to punt when he fumbled the ball on the last down. To see him play is worth twice the admission to the game.

It surely looks like Chesneau is a bad man to play against. Two Trinity players that were unfortunate enough to be opposite him were carried off the field with broken legs.

Coach Adams didn't have much to say after the game. Neither did the team. However, revenge is sweet. Watch us scalp them when they come here November 2.

If Dewey Laws' Madonna had been at the game he would have scored a few times at the least. Somebody bring her to the next game.

INVITATION TO THE DANCE
"Shades of Chesterfield! What an invitation to the dance."
"What did the young man say to the girl, Colonel?"
"Come on, kid, let's jazz."

Misleading Applause.
The orator the public notes
And to applause is stirred;
And yet some chap will get the votes
Who scarcely said a word.

Right at Hand.
Irate Boss (to caller who has left the door wide open)—Sir, do you know what good manners are?
The Caller—I'm just your man. I have here for your consideration the best book on etiquette that was ever published.

Spills the Beans.
"I've given up telling my wife anything."
"So have I mine. It simply goes in at one ear and out at the other."
"That isn't the trouble with my wife. It goes in at one ear and comes out of her mouth."

Forestalling a Touch.
"Morning, Mr. Dodeligh."
"Good morning, sir."
"Could you lend a little financial assistance to a friend?"
"Thanks. I need—"
"The friend I have in mind is now touring Europe."

Incorrigible.
Teacher (to literary class)—Now, give me some word like 'bemoan.'
First Pupil—Bedew.
Second Ditto—Bedaub.
Third Ditto—Bespatter.
Fourth Ditto—Begorra!

According to Quality.
Flubb—Brown paid $25 for one of his photographs.
Dubb—Wasn't that rather steep?
Flubb—Not at all! It happened to be a snapshot of himself kissing a bathing beauty at the beach!

Largely True.
"They have a new car."
"They have? They can't afford it."
"I know; it's always the people who can't afford them who are buying cars nowadays."

More Like It.
"A scientist claims he can weigh one's conscience."
"By the ounce?"
"No; by the scruple, I imagine."

Few of Us Are.
"This is a man's world," she complained.
"Maybe it is," he replied, "but don't blame me. I'm not guilty."

Modified Sentiment.
"Do you believe that to the victors belong the spoils?"
"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum; always allowing for the possibility that I may hit an off year; in which event I am strong for civil service protection."

The Irony of Fate.
She—It is not easy for a girl to get a husband.
He—Nonsense! Why, a pretty girl can make her choice of four out of every five men she meets.
She—But it's the fifth she wants.

AND HE'S RIGHT, TOO
She: Do you like these jazz dances?
He: Yes, I term 'em the freedom of the sieze."

And the Further, Too.
"A standing account
Is a queer thing," said Duns;
"The longer it stands,
The longer it runs."

Explained.
"I wonder, Jinks, why every epitaph begins with 'Here lies?'"
"I dunno, unless maybe they used to bury a lot of fishermen and lawyers and just got into the habit."

Saving on Shows and Sweets.
Ethel—Now that we are engaged you must economize.
Jack—I do already; I'm not calling on any other girls.

DR. KRUEGER LECTURES.

Dr. Frederick K. Krueger, who is an authority on political and social science, intends to give a series of eight lectures on these subjects to the chapter M of the P. E. O. Sisterhood this winter. His topic for the first address, which has already been given, was "Crime and Its Punishment." Dr. Krueger has also arranged a course in political and social science for the Omaha Woman's Club, and is securing the speakers for this organization.

Betty—If he proposes I shall suggest that we postpone our wedding until things get back to normal.

Mildred—I wouldn't do that, dear. The man himself might get back to normal.
